RASKOB SPEAKS
WITCH DOCTORS
GLIDER RECORD

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. RASKOB, MANAGER OF DEMOCRATS, says President Hoover, running for office now, couldn't be elected, because the "Republicans could not exploit prosperity."

They could, however exploit Protestantism. And while the fact isn't generally mentioned, that had much to do with the Democratic and Republican votes of 1928, the two biggest ever recorded in our history.

AUSTRALIANS AND OTHERS are impressed by old Solomon, an old aboriginal Australian with doctor, who predicted "drenching rains to end the drought in the first quarter of the moon."

The drenching rains came, crops were saved, Solomon is a hero, and the weather bureau which saw no rain coming is made ridiculous.

The public eager to be deceived hears and cares nothing about the thousands which doctors and other prophets, that in the same week predicted things that did not, and will not happen.

ACCORDING TO THE POLICE, Chinese "Tong" men in New York are learning racketeer methods from the West. Gentlemen of one tong sometimes kill gentlemen of another tong, and hitherto each tong has done its own killing.

It isn't so among modern gangsters and racketeers.

They hire somebody, usually a youthful cocaine victim, to do the killings and put the doomed man "on the spot." The killer shoots not knowing the name of his victim, or why he is killed.

FOLLOWING THIS EXCELLENT idea New York's On Leon Tong hired two young white men to murder seven enemies of a rival tong, the white youths told the police. Three Chinese, and one Filipino arrested, six guns, several hundred rounds of ammunition seized.

ROBERT KRONFELD, Austrian glider flier, better his own world record, gliding 94 miles in a storm. Others feared to glide in such weather, but Kronfeld went up "hooked on to a little cloud" as he put it, and carried by the wind that carried the cloud, he went sweeping 94 miles over the mountains.

BLAST INJURES CLEVELAND MEN

Two Hurt Seriously As Explosion Wrecks Vacant Building

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—A terrific gas explosion ripped a vacant two-story building in the heart of the downtown district here and resulted in serious injury to two men Friday.

The injured were Benjamin Seobel, 42, proprietor of a shop next door to the blasted building, and A. Russell, 43, an employee of Seobel. The explosion occurred when the two men entered the basement of the vacant building to get an electric motor and lighted a match in order to see the way.

Flames, which broke out following the explosion, ignited the clothing of the two men. Seobel was critically burned.

FORMER CONVICT ADMITS PART IN LINGLE SLAYING

Drove Car To Scene Of Murder, He Tells Coroner's Jury

(By International News Service) CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Three members of Indiana's notorious Traum gang stood accused today of plotting and executing the bold slaying of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, racketeer, following the surprise confession of Frank H. Bell, bandit and two-time graduate of Leavenworth penitentiary.

Bell went before a hastily-summoned coroner's jury last night and confessed driving the automobile which carried the Chicago Tribune reporter's killers to the mouth of the Randolph street pedestrian subway where Lingle was put on the "spot" in broad daylight June 9 last.

At the death scene they met a man who resembled the picture of Ted Geisinger, Traum gangster who was captured in Louisville, Ky., and is now under arrest in Indiana, Bell said.

The gang was to have received $10,000 in cash for the slaying, but they never collected the fee, Bell told the jurors. Bell was arrested for the slaying of Christ Patras, cafe owner who was to have paid the $10,000 for Lingle's murder but refused. Patras, according to Bell, was the agent of Jack Zuta, north side gang leader who was slain later at a Wisconsin summer resort for his part in the reporter's death.

FEDERAL FORCE DRIVES AGAINST NARCOTIC GANG

Arrests Made In Akron And Cleveland By Authorities

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—Heralding the start of a state-wide drive against narcotic traffic, federal agents made 28 arrests in a series of swiftly and well-planned raids in Cleveland and Akron early today.

In Cleveland 14 persons were arrested and approximately $50,000 worth of narcotics seized, according to Ralph H. Oyler, narcotic agent in charge of the Ohio and Michigan district, who was here to direct the cleanup.

At Akron, 14 persons were rounded up and booked on charges of suspicion. Sixty were first arrested but more than half were released after questioning.

Among those arrested in Cleveland was Mike Campo, who sold $1,000 worth of narcotics to Federal Agents Malcolm McFadden and J. C. McAvoy when they met him at the public square, the agents said. The raiders encountered their only resistance in breaking into a Scoville avenue place where a negro was overpowered and arrested together with three women after threatening the officers with a gun.

The drive resulted from an investigation lasting more than two weeks and carried on with the utmost secrecy by Agents McFadden and McAvoy. The raiders were recruited from among agents at Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Akron.

Oyler said and were assisted by police in both Cleveland and Akron. In the Akron raids, several thousand dollars worth of narcotics were seized. Those arrested were held on open charges pending arraignment before United States Commissioner William J. Laub today. Among the prisoners was a reputed "narcotic king" who has served sentences in federal penitentiaries.

Indian Summer Smiles On Sportsman's Park For 3rd Affray

CHAMPS' HURLER STILL IN DOUBT

Loung Left Hander Given Assignment To Keep St. Louis In Race

(By International News Service) ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Local baseball weather appeared in prospect for the third game of the world series to be played by the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals this afternoon at Sportsman's park.

The day was still, with just a whisper of a breeze and an Indian summer temperature in the seventies appeared likely to do away with the necessity of top coats.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—As the St. Louis Cardinals win their penultimate in the even years and the world series play opens in National league cities in the odd years, the Red Birds came back to St. Louis for the third time in five seasons after they had opened the battle for baseball supremacy away from home.

Gabby Street brought his players to Sportsman's park with nothing to show for their efforts at Shibe park, against the Philadelphia Athletics, world champions, in this he was in exactly the desperate situation faced by Bill McKelvie two years ago when he arrived from the Yankee stadium, boasting nothing but a deficit. On the other hand in 1926 Rogers Hornsby, after two games in New York, had an even break.

The home grounds have not been good to the Cardinals in world's series play. The 1926 series which they won was not captured at home and winning due to a 96-0 stadium, the Mississippians lost two out of three here, but this kept the Cardinals in the series and they returned to New York to take two in a row, and the world's championship.

To capture the important game today, Manager Charles Street named "Wild Bill" Hallahan, his sensational young left hander, to do the pitching for the Cardinals.

Major Charles C. Connell, a member of the Lisbon post, will leave for Boston next week, while Merle Burson and Commander Clarence Ball of the Lisbon post leave today for Boston.

SALEM CREATES NEW RECORD IN LEETONIA GAME

High School Grid Team Amasses 77 Points In Night Tilt

OPEN FIVE DASHES FEATURING "RUGGLE"

Carpenter Runs 84 Yards From Kick-Off; Beck Scores 42 Points

A new scoring record for modern-day high school football in Salem was created as Coach Floyd W. Stone's Red and Black grid machine amassed a 95-0 score against the small, but plucky, Leetonia High school team under the floodlights of Reilly stadium here.

The Salem High eleven came within one point of smashing the all-time scoring record of its school, established by the Red and Black grid aggregation of 1915 when Cartwright was defeated here by a 96-0 score but it brought the Quaker City representatives their second consecutive victory of the season and displayed to fandom here possibilities of another great football team.

It was an evening when Salem held the spotlight from start to finish, not a play attempted during the entire 48 minutes of play failing to gain End runs, line lunges, runs from kick-off and returns of punts were all turned into touchdowns as the Red and Black's ball-carrying combination composed of William "Bill" Smith, Jack Carpenter, John French and Ed Beck ran wild and registered a total of 24 first downs to one by the plucky Leetonia team.

DEPUTIES KILL MAN IN BATTLE

Bullet Proof Vest Saves Life; Victim Wanted On Lunacy Charge

WARREN, Oct. 4.—Charles Langdon, 30, who came here several months ago from Mesopotamia, died today from gunshot wounds received in a battle with county authorities who were forced to fire on him while trying to arrest him on a warrant charging lunacy.

Langdon was captured late yesterday and was removed to the Massillon state hospital last night when it was believed he would recover from his wounds.

He was shot as he aimed a shotgun at Deputy Sheriff Lew Parry, County Detective Elmer Darling fired the shots. Darling's life was saved a few moments earlier by a bullet-proof vest when the crazed man fired on him.

The lunacy warrant was obtained by one of Langdon's neighbors, E. J. Byler who said he was threatening to shoot his (Byler's) son. Byler warned police Langdon would be armed when they came for him.

Langdon defied the officers when they arrived and they were forced to don bullet proof vests and storm the house. Langdon's mother, who was in the house, sought safety in an upstairs room.

Likes Hoover Talk

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 4.—Mr. Hoover went out to Cleveland Thursday and spoke before the bankers. I liked his speech. He didn't beat around the bush about anything.

He just came right out in the opening paragraph and said we was doing pretty "mangy" (of course, he might have suspected that we had already found it out).

He said if we could afford to live through it, things would get better. That advice was directed to younger men.

He read a lot of statistics there that was mighty encouraging. They told how poor some fifteen or twenty other countries were doing. I had no idea that Ecuador was as bad off as Oklahoma, but it is. So before you complain, think of Peru, Yours.

What Others Say

DESOLATION AND BOREDOM

Amidst the persistent clacking of typewriter keys it is refreshing to hear a distinguished voice raised in protest against these popular undigested outbursts.

Professor R. B. Perry, professor of philosophy at Harvard, at the International Congress of Philosophers convened at Oxford, indulged in some plain and rational remarks that should impress both learned men and common people not intrigued by the complexities and niceties of philosophical considerations.

Dr. Perry said that if the era of peace is to be postponed until the nations of the world understand one another, we shall have to wait a long time. He declared: "I question whether we really desire this difficult and perhaps unattainable community of mind."

"Certainly to me, as an American—and I hope a good American—there is nothing more profoundly repugnant than the thought of the Americanization of the world. An ultimate peace among men will not rest upon sameness of ideas or sentiments or customs. This—even if it were attainable—would be a peace of desolation and intolerable boredom."

The Utopias of the world, of localized or general conception, have not proved to be acceptable to men. Elysian Fields and Lotus Land beckon joyously only from the dream shores of the paradise of dreamers. Orthodoxes themselves offer us only in their varied concepts of heaven an assured Utopia—and it usually is pictured as a place of rest, of sameness of ideas, associations, sentiments and customs. Perhaps the true home of the spirit is not so, but so they describe it. As for earthly uniform peace as envisioned by those who would have it, it suggests a social condition which Dr. Perry rather aptly defines as a state of desolation and intolerable boredom. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

RECRUDESCENCE OF LYNCHING

Southern leaders of popular opinion it is reported, are planning to conduct a new inquiry into the causes of mob violence in the United States. For the facts in regard to recent lynchings are depressing enough. An unbiased study of the recrudescence of that evil, which had been regarded as a dying relic of barbarous conditions now practically extinct, is needed in order that more effective methods of control and prevention may be devised.

Already more lynchings have taken place in the United States this year than were written in red in the whole of last year. Some states in which lynchings once were most frequent have had their first cases of mob violence in a decade or more.

How these painful facts are to be accounted for remains undetermined. Recent instances of lynching must be investigated where they occurred, efforts being made to ascertain the antecedent and attendant circumstances of the several outbreaks.

White citizens of eminence as well as Negro educators and trained sociologists, it is announced, will take part in the projected investigation. The undertaking not only is important in itself but affords a gratifying indication of improved interracial relations in the South. —Chicago News.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Harlem's Black Belt has evolved a style consciousness all its bright particular own. Sometimes savage, usually colorful, it is always arresting. The sepias struts above 125th street are as different in dress from down town New York as Tunis from Tokyo.

There are tailors in the area who do their own designing, distinctly for the ebony Brummels of their clientele. Broadway, Fifth avenue, Bond street or the Prince of Wales exercise no influence whatever on Lenox avenue or its Pomander Walk, known as Striver's Row—"for those who strive."

The potpourri of fashion erupts a lava of riotous color effects. This autumn the main offering consists of splendid overcoats, with huge airplane wing shoulders, broad velvet collars, slashed pockets and flapping bottoms that fall within an inch of the ground.

There are belts set high and ranging from 6 to 12 inches in width. The spirit of minstrelsy in Darkest Gotham is evidenced in large bright buttons from pearl to robin red. The derbies range from milk white to dark purple. In type it may sound grotesque but there is a barbaric beauty about it all.

Coats to suits are cut hip short with enormously ballooning shoulders. The trousers may be mile-wide or as tight as tight on a circus skeleton. Shoes are made pointed patent leather with flamboyant cloth tops and spats take in all colors of the spectrum.

This season brown predominates for suits from the brown of autumnal leaf to deep chocolate interspersed with green and purple. An unholy clash of color is achieved by wearing a yellow hat with a red tie or a brown hat with a pastel pink four-in-hand tucked in the trousers like a shirt tail a la Duke Ellington, Harlem's Paul Whitman.

Sundays there is a promenade with trailing great coats a feature. They are worn in hot weather if the sky is clouded, the threat of rain providing the excuse. The dandiacal "sweet men"—or gigolos—are tall and thin and how the dusky belles adore them!

Harlem walking canes deserve at least a snip of a paragraph. They are of wood stained in gay colors with gold heads. Some are spangled with chip diamonds and when twirled at night give off a glittering pin wheel effect. Skiddle-de-scow! And cha-cha-cha!

The Paramount recently had a lobby entertainment for faithful waiters. Meandering about, one came across candy machines, an Indian chief who chuckles—Verne Porter dubbed him Laughing Boy—while skipping up, Hawaiians crooning and thrumming guitars, a shoe eyed gypsy fortune teller and always, of course, you could cop a peek at the gorgeous head usher.

Many wondered at least I did, how George Jean Nathan, so often seen squaring about Lillian Gish, would handle his review of the short lived play in which she starred last season. After eulogizing the play, Nathan throbs: "The very excellent company includes—and were it not that I should and unquestionably rightly be accused of prejudice, I'd like elegantly to expatiate—the most lovely Lillian Gish." It was a little long winded but quite pretty withal.

Perhaps most natives know it but only today did I learn that the English gave New York its present name in honor of the Duke of York. The same interrogative gentleman, who has only lived here four years, wanted to know if I knew the first name the Dutch gave the island. I didn't let on I heard him and looked it up at home. It was Mauritius. I wish newspapers would quit advertising me as such a New York authority.

A cynic special delivers the blow,ing up of the Maine may have been caused by Spaniards hearing the Stein Song and that had just reached the waste basket until this one was opened: "Ina Drunquie is a beautiful file clerk in a Wall Street financial house."

Also zips a rather curt note from my syndicate lards announcing: "Ten returned letters signed by you were addressed to as many principal cities, each being addressed to a wrong state. This seems unusually careless."

I'm a dandy on cities but weak on states. Fifteen years ago I could rattle off the capital of every state and name the presidents in rotation. But the riveting finally got me. (Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

FRANCE ACTS TO CURB IMPORT OF RUSSIAN GRAINS

Restriction of Products Accomplished During Cabinet Session

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The French government took energetic action today to curb a flood of Russian wheat and other products into France.

The cabinet decided to restrict the products with import licenses requiring a reciprocal exchange between and Russia.

The application of the law was explained at public meetings held Friday night by the ministries of agriculture and commerce, but it is understood that Russian imports will be limited to an equal amount of French products exported to Russia.

Russian cereals, meats, eggs, sugar, wool, gelatin, and glue were among the products mentioned by the cabinet.

Large quantities of Soviet wheat enroute to French ports are expected to be halted by the government's action.

"Russia had two months of benefit from unloading her grain by surprise before other nations could react," an official of the government said. "It is undeniable that the sudden fall in the world price of wheat, sugar, wool, and other products was due to Russia's mass exports."

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

"How much is a suspicion of mustard?"
"Or a dash of salt?"
"Or a package of gelatin?"

The young housekeeper looked puzzled as she bent over some directions in her hand. Here I am trying to be very scientific, measuring everything carefully, and I run across these cloudy instructions.

If one takes pleasure in experimenting with all sorts of recipes it is frequently necessary to transpose them into standardized measurements. And such a table is very convenient if kept within eye's reach, over the preparing surface.

Supplemented with such aids as measuring spoons, measuring cups, pint and quart measures and small household scale many cooking failures will be warded off. There are some inevitable variations, even among all the dry products—a tablespoonful of flour weighs less than a tablespoonful of grated chocolate and less than a tablespoonful of sugar. The most dependable check on all dry ingredients is the household scale, but for general purposes measuring spoons are adequate. All measurements, whether spoon or cup, are level, not rounded.

4 saltspoons, 1 teaspoonful.
3 teaspoons, 1 tablespoonful.
16 tablespoons, 1 cup.
4 cups flour, 1 pound.
2 cups butter, 1 pound.
2 cups sugar, 1 pound.
2 cups rice, 1 pound.
3 cups ground coffee, 1 pound.
4 cups cocoa, 1 pound.

Such foods as nutmeats, cake and cracker crumbs, raisins and other dried fruits will vary in weight per cup, depending on how finely chopped or finely packed. This is a case of brown and confectioner's sugar, which pack more loosely in the cup than the granulated. It takes over three cups, possibly three and one-third, of the powdered sugar to make a pound, and about two and two-thirds cups of the brown sugar.

If there is a choice in measuring ingredients the scales are the safest, especially if amounts must be carefully measured, as in the case of candies or cakes. If flour, spices, sugar, etc., are added the sifting should be done before weighing not afterward and the measuring cups filled, but not shaken down. This might increase quantity beyond requirements and result in a failure, despite the apparent careful measuring.

Holy Trinity English Lutheran, Rev. George D. Keaster, pastor. (All services are held at the Memorial building on East State street.)

Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity. Festival of the Harvest.

Sunday school 9:45 (St. Luke 1:1-8). H. E. Smith, superintendent.

It took a mighty man to be the forerunner of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. That forerunner was none other than John, the Baptist. The fervor, zeal and spiritual energy of this prophet can be accounted for, at least in part, by looking to the home from which he came. There was piety in that home. There was religious meditation and education there. God was not a stranger. The will of God was not an unknown quantity. So what people are, is to a great degree, a record of their homes. Water never rises above its source. The home is the source of character.

Morning worship 11:00. Sermon: "The Goodness of God."

Not much thought about life should bring us to the conclusion of the goodness of God. A little more consideration about this matter should more deeply impress our minds about this fact and our lives should be lived accordingly. God's goodness should produce in our lives an undying gratitude to Him. Our drumming should be non-existent. Our complaining should be cast from our lives forever. As we gather on this Festival of the Harvest, we more plainly realize, what a small part man has to do to bring about bounteous harvests and filled barns. Do you believe in the goodness of God? What effect does it have on your life?

GOTHAM SCANDAL TAKES ON MORE SERIOUS ASPECT

Buying, Selling Offices In New York Becomes Political Issue

PURCHASE OF BENCH POST BASIS OF QUIZ

Tammany Leaders Waive Immunity When Asked To Testify In Case

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The alleged scandal of the buying and selling of judicial office threatened startling developments.

The issue was complicated by the impending gubernatorial election battle between Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, and former U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, Republican, both with a potential national political future.

Tuttle has made the "scandal" an integral part of his campaign. New York being under a Tammany Democratic administration.

Governor Roosevelt was expected to announce his decision on the request of the special grand jury which was ordered by him to investigate the Ewald-Healy cases as to whether their inquiry can be broadened.

Investigate Charge
The original charge being investigated concerns the alleged purchase of a bench appointment by George F. Ewald from Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader.

The governor is unofficially reported to be in favor of such a broadening of the powers of the extraordinary grand jury to enable it to investigate all charges of corruption in connection with the government of New York.

Seventeen Tammany leaders, including Big Chief John F. Curry, called as witnesses before the grand jury, have refused to waive immunity.

The governor suggested to Mayor James J. Walker, himself one of the most influential members of Tammany hall, that the Tammany leaders either relinquish their claim to immunity and testify, or quit their official jobs with the city.

Mayor Walker issued such an ultimatum setting 4 p. m. yesterday as the deadline, but extended the time 24 hours due to the Jewish holiday.

Defies Efforts
The first defiance to the efforts to compel Tammany leaders to sign waivers came from Martin J. G. McCue, clerk of surrogate's court and leader of the twelfth district.

McCue is not an appointee of Mayor Walker and therefore is not included in the mayor's ultimatum.

"I will not sign a waiver and I am not going to be driven into signing a waiver," declared McCue.

A possible reason for the vanishing of Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater, missing for two months, may soon be offered by authorities. It was indicated from the activity of federal, state and county officials investigating the case.

District Attorney Thomas Grady made public the stenographic record of the examination of "Conn" Marcus, pretty clothing designer, who was a friend of Justice Crater.

She freely admitted that she had received sums of money from Crater during their seven years' friendship but insisted she had not heard from him since two weeks before he disappeared.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Panic trends were confused at the opening of today's stock market. International Telephone, Fox and Kennecott rallied about a point, and General Electric mounted 1/4. On the other hand Sears Roebuck, Eastman, and Ford Motor fell about a point.

Such a check as T. S. Sisk, Radio, American and General Motors opened virtually unchanged.

"Do You Believe in Capital Punishment?" was discussed by Mrs. Howard Burton and Mrs. E. V. Gamble. Readings were given by Mrs. Raymond Oesch and Mrs. Emerson Conrad.

parking of automobiles near the church.

The new structure is being built at a cost of about $100,000. It will be of stone and of English villa type, Gothic architecture.

Work was started in August and the church will be ready for occupancy about the first of the year, according to Rev. Fr. Maurice Casey, pastor of St. Paul's.

Services will be continued in the old church building until the new one is completed. The old frame structure, built 50 years ago, will then be removed and the lawn from the new church to the school building land capped, Fr. Casey said.

Canada Laws Halt Erie Rum Running

SANDUSKY, Oct. 4.—Rum running on the west end of Lake Erie has practically stopped since enforcement of the Canadian law prohibiting exportation of liquor to dry areas in the opinion of Roy D. Downing, deputy collector of customs.

Downing, who is custodian of seized liquor in the Lake Erie shore division between Cleveland and Toledo, had only two quarts to report for the quarter ending September 30, always before he had thousands of bottles to report, he said.

Auditor Bureaus Kent Bookkeeping
COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—Declaration that bookkeeping at the Kent State college is "unsatisfactory" is contained in a report which was made public Friday by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy.

The report, which covers an inspection of the records of this state institution for the period from October, 1928, to April of this year by State Examiner Scott E. Hamilton and Charles E. Orr, recommends that a proper bookkeeping system be installed immediately.

OXFORD, ENG. — Dean Inge is gloomy about the enormous sums spent on pleasure and amusement. In a address to the national savings movement he said the amount spent last year on amusement in America was estimated at $2,000,000,000 and two years of American pay would suffice to pay the whole of our national debt.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Buy Grapes by the Bunch
Though sold by the pound, grapes will yield the most for the money if selected by the bunch. A large bunch, well filled with sound berries, clinging firmly to the stems, is a good buy and let the weight take care of itself. If a bunch looks bedraggled, with vacant spaces here and there, where grapes have fallen off—well it's not likely to be a good buy, even though the bunch seems decently filled.

Seedless white grapes are new in season, and are growing in popularity because they are the only grapes that can be eaten with dignity. Their flavor is rather good — although to the prejudiced there is nothing to beat the tang of the blue Concord, despite its elusive seeds that must be captured and disposed of and its rather thick skin. This is probably the best grape for jelly or grape juice.

Several hours. The flames, which threatened to sweep the town, were discovered at 5:30 p. m. fire-fighting equipment from Columbus and Chillicothe aided the local fire department in extinguishing the conflagration.

A. C. Moore, superintendent of the plant, indicated that the employees will be idle for nearly two months while the property is being rebuilt.

The destroyed straw had been stored in about 16 racks covering an area of about five acres. It was to have been made into boards and then sent away for corrugation.

Salem High Runs Up 95-0 Score On Scrappy Leetonia Combine

THE DAY In Sports

SCRAPPY TEAM—LEETONIA WARREN HERE NEXT WEEK CONFERENCE CHATTER NEED NEW OHIO STARS

Coach Floyd Stone gave his first team gridders a real workout against one of the pluckiest band of youngsters that ever coveted the greenward of Reilly athletic stadium here last night. Leetonia High, represented by an aggregation of 11 youngsters, apparently none of them extensively tutored in the technique of football and nearly all of them lacking experience and weight that goes to compose successful grid machines, lost a 95-0 game to Salem.

There's a lot of consolation in winning a game by such a large score and especially when such an old-time bitter rival as Leetonia is the victim. But last night the old bitter feeling wasn't there. After the tenth of eleven touchdowns the gritty playing of the Blue and White commanded respect that always is centered on the under-dog. But apparently even in football there is little sentiment.

Stone's team showed real improvement if anything can be taken as an indication of the Red and Black's prowess from the game. Next Friday Warren plays here. Random can rest assured that the workout against Leetonia will do Salem some good but it also may work the other way. After an easy victory a feeling of "bring anybody on" generally creeps into a victorious team's makeup.

Stone could well use the lad Lees that appeared as right tackle in Leetonia's lineup. He was in every play and generally was the one that smeared the Salem ball-carrier, when that was done. A wagger that he was seldom carried off his feet by opposing Salem lineup wouldn't be such a big risk.

A new galaxy of gridiron stars must be discovered in the Buckeye conference this fall. The athletes who held the limelight during the 1929 season were largely seniors and new players have taken their places. Only Robert Jones, Delaware, of the Ohio Wesleyan eleven, who won a place at guard and Russell Kepler, Wellington, of Ohio university, who was named at halfback are left from the official all-Buckeye team of last year. Kepler was the only ranking.

Three players who made the second Buckeye team are likely to be outstanding among first team candidates this year. Marshall Griffith, Wilkesburg, Pa. tackle, and Claud Chrisman, Mt. Vernon guard, of Ohio university along with Ted Osborn, Akron. Ohio Wesleyan's midline end compose this group. Griffith was picked for the Associated Press all-Buckeye team last year. So was Gordon Nieberg, Cleveland, Ohio Wesleyan guard, who for some unknown reason was entirely overlooked by Buckeye coaches in making their official selections. Nieberg's play this year already indicates that he will be an outstanding candidate this season.

Opening games of 1930 indicate that Kepler will have plenty of competition for halfback honors this season. Harry Maurer, Uhrichsville, Ohio university; Red-lick Campbell, Elmira, N. Y. Ohio Wesleyan; and Wilbur Cartwright, Mansburg Miami have already put in their bids for the hall of fame.

Ervin Carlisle, Columbus, veteran quarterback for the Battling Bishops must be reckoned with in determining honors as that position for 1930. Cliff Jensen, Toledo, sophomore tackle at Cincinnati, which will make him a real figure in Buckeye circles.

Ohio Wesleyan football fans can now play the Battling Bishops' games over again in real style. When they convened Saturday evening following Wesleyan's opening game with Marshall they found the Hotel Allen lobby headquarters for the Bettling down-town coaches, equipped with a gridiron for their use. Jack and Bob Watson, proprietors of the hostelry and Bishop boosters, had marked off a playing field on the floor of the lobby with 10 yard lines, end zones and all carefully indicated. Equipped with a referee's whistle, a headlinesman's horn and a timer's gun the Watson brothers officiated the post-mortem game and ruled many of the downtown coaches off-side.

Denschen alumni may have a hard time identifying the 1930 Big Red team as their very own. For the first time in recent years the Baptists will live up to their nickname "Big Red." Coach Rupp has been using a combination on the line averaging 195 pounds which is a sharp contrast with light Denschen team of last year.

Ohio university's Bobcats will introduce a new sideline jacket to the Buckeye conference this fall. The coat is made of suede and has the head of an angry bobcat sewed on the back. The problem confronting Coach Peden now becomes how to keep the players in the game instead of on the bench sporting their new jackets Athens fans aver.

Ohio's Wesleyan's football squad boasts three members who made perfect scholarship records during an "A" grade in every course for the last semester. All of them made which they were enrolled. These pickin'-toters to march through for continued long gains. It was probably the most one-sided game played in Columbiana county since the advent of the modern football playing code.

The Salem team started in the first quarter scoring 27 points while Leetonia never obtained possession of the ball except for a kick-off and to return it to the Red and Black via a punt. A relentless campaign towards the all-time scoring record was waged throughout the four quarters of play. Forty-seven points were scored in the first half and 48 in the closing periods.

The scoring spree started four minutes after Leetonia kicked off in the opening period. French running the back 22 yards to his own 14-yd line Beck skirted left end for 22 yds and the first down of the contest and French went through center for five yds. Smith and carried the spiral to the eight on a plunge and Beck made seven more off tackle following which French plunged through guard for the opening touchdown. French's line smash was good for the extra point.

Leetonia Kicks Off

The Blue and White elected to kick-off and Salem started another drive which was climaxed by a 10-yd run by Smith for the second touchdown. French again made the extra point. Smith kicked off to Leetonia who immediately punted on the first down.

On the first play after the punt Beck carried the ball 45 yds around right end, side-arming four Leetonia tacklers and with excellent interference scored. The plunge for the point failed.

Leetonia again kicked to Salem. Carpenter, Beck and Smith combining in the attack on the visiting line to make three consecutive first downs. With French running interference Smith broke loose from a play off guard and ran 35 yds for the fourth touchdown of the period. Carpenter bucking the extra counter to make the score 27-0.

Leetonia received Smith's kick and on the first play lost 11 yds on an attempted buck. An attempted punt was blocked and rolled out of bounds on Leetonia's 12-yd line. Salem being given possession and Carpenter took the pike on his first attempt. French sneaked over center for the point.

Another Leetonia kick-off was returned 29 yds by French to the middle of the field. A sweeping right end run, Beck carrying the ball, resulted in the star's third great run of the half a speedy excursion of 50 yds through a broken field again. Smith's extra point made it 41-0.

Carpenter In Great Run

For no apparent reason whatever, Leetonia chose to kick-off once more—it may have been to discover just how it was done and what it was all about—and the ball was down on the Salem 33-yd line. Young Carpenter grabbed the sphere on the first play, ducked through the opposition on an excursion around right end and made a sensational 67-yd run for a score. The ball was called back because of an off-side play and the Red and Black was penalized five yards.

Loss of a touchdown in such a game meant nothing at all. Beck duplicated Carpenter's run, made up for the five-yard penalty and dashed 67½ yds to the one-half yd line. Smith's plunge over center scored the touchdown and the point failed.

With less than a minute to play for the half, Smith practically single-handedly was responsible for the final score by Salem in the second quarter. He returned Leetonia's kick-off from his own five-yd stripe 40 yds to the 45 and on the following play skirted right tackle for a 58-yd run and another touchdown.

Carpenter ran Leetonia's kick-off back 10 yds to Salem 29 in the third period. On the first play from scrimmage Beck ran 72 yds for his third touchdown of the massacre. French bucked the point and the score stood at 94-0.

Beck Intercepts Pass

Leetonia registered its only first down on the game this period, a 15-yd aerial heave that was good; but on a second pass attempt Carpenter intercepted the throw and ran unimpeded for 60 yds and a score. Smith scored the point. Nothing occurred of interest to either team for three minutes until Smith made a run of 18 yds to take the pickin into Leetonia's territory for the fifth time following which French skirted 45 yds to boost Salem's total six more points.

Carpenter made the most sensational run of the game, one of those plays that makes fans tear their hair and throes perfectly good hat's away in any other but a one-sided game as this was. It was an 84-yd affair from a kick-off down the center of the gridiron with almost perfect interference.

Beck received a 12-yd pass from French and ran 25 yards for Salem's first touchdown in the fourth quarter. Leetonia received the kick-off made six yards when a pass was ruled complete because of interference then on the next play Beck grabbed a Leetonia aerial and loped 24 yards for his second score of the period.

Leetonia changing its tactics, again received, failed to gain and attempted to punt. It was partially blocked, Beck grabbing the pickin and brought the day's events to a fitting climax with his sixth touchdown after running 33 yards. French made the point.

Subs Gain Ground

Some here threw in an almost entirely new team and except for long gain, by Dan Alexander, sophomore Negro youth of promise, and Gene Yarwood, nothing great happened.

You can't pick stars out from a team that scores 14 touchdowns in a game. Salem played great ball—line and backs alike—but Leetonia had one of its weakest teams in history so the final score can't be any means be taken as an indication that the Red and Black has a world beating aggregation. Any way it is figured, however, Stone's team would have been hard to beat last night, with such runs as made by Beck, Carpenter, French and Smith and individual performance of all linemen.

Speaking of the line, credit goes to Coach Riley for bringing one great lad with him from Leetonia. Less giant Blue and White tackle was the one highlight in the Leetonia team's play. He was in everything, and as all other of his teammates, never quit fighting for a second. It wouldn't be puffing Lees' playing a bit to say he was undoubtedly one of the best linemen on the field.

Electric Service Is the Cheapest Thing In the Home Today

HEADLINES From the Sidelines

By DAVIS J. WALSH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—"Not licked yet."

That was the attitude today of the St. Louis Cardinals, "under dogs" in the current world series, as they grimly prepared to do battle with the high-riding Philadelphia Athletics at their own Sportsman's park this afternoon.

"We are going to apply the brakes," declared Gabby Street, manager of the skidding Red Birds.

And the fans in this "show me" state of Missouri evidently think they can. For droves of loyal supporters from miles around have train and automobile to see the Cards "go" this afternoon.

Every hotel in town is jammed with visitors. These Missourians have got to be "shown". They will be out there at the ball grounds this afternoon 35,000 strong to root for the home team.

St. Louis honestly thinks "Bill" Hallahan, the Cards' star southpaw "smoke ball" pitcher, will stop the A's, even if Manager Connie Mack shoots "Lefty" Grove back at them. But the experts are not looking for Grove today. They believe Mack, having the Red Birds two down, will gamble a bit and send either "Bill" Snodgrass, a strong young right-hander of "Rube" Walberg, a fast left-hander to the mound.

But if you imagine the A's are worrying about Hallahan, or the ultimate outcome of this series, you have guessed wrong.

"We expect to end the world series right here in St. Louis," Jimmy Dykes, crack third baseman of the A's told International News Service in a little private "fanning bee".

Other members of the A's who happened to be within ear shot, heartily concurred in this view. I found Dykes reclining in a chair on the lawn of the Kingsway hotel, out in the western part of the town, far away from the billowing throngs in the lobbies of the downtown hotels. This is where the A's are quartered. Most of the Cardinals were at their homes scattered about the city.

French Marionettes Appear At High School Here Monday

Jean Gros' French marionettes, one of the country's most unique entertainments, will be shown at the Salem High school at 2:30 and 8:15 p. m. Monday.

The marionettes will appear in three select entertainments, "An Adventure on Pelican Isle," "The Yellow Knight of Oz" and "Uncle Wiggly at the Circus."

The former is a study in rhythms with music written by Harold Heist. "The Yellow Knight of Oz" is based on famous stories of the mythical land of Oz, written by L. Frank Baum while "Uncle Wiggly at the Circus" recounts additional adventures of the fictional "Uncle Wiggly" characters.

All of the characters appearing in the Oz fairy tales, the Comfortable Camel, the Scarecrow, Nick, the tin woodman, and others are featured in the second day. Another feature will be the Marionette Revue shown in conjunction with "The Gawpy Ballet."

The marionette entertainment will be the first of its kind to be shown in Salem in years. Marionette acts in the United States are to a certain extent identified with juvenile entertainment but of late have advanced in popularity and are now developed with an appeal for adults.

"The Gawpy Ballet" shows the ironic humor of Anatole France in Penguin Isle while the Marionette Revue is a witty satire on the manners of current revues and musical comedies and dance recital productions.

KELLEY TO AIR SHALE CHARGES

Believes Cabinet Could Not Conduct Impartial Investigations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Department of justice investigation into charges of oil land maladministration proceeded today without the aid of their author, Ralph S. Kelley, former field executive of the interior department's land office at Denver, who chose instead to detail his complaints in newspaper articles.

"It is my view that members of the President's cabinet are much too closely bound together to permit impartial investigations of each other," he wrote. Seth W. Richardson, assistant attorney general assigned to inquire into his charges.

Also he expressed belief that Richardson himself had prejudiced the case. In reply the justice department said it would continue to delve into the records concerning the extensive oil shale lands of Colorado.

Secretary Wilbur, who had been charged by Kelley with failure to end alleged favoritism to large oil companies displayed by interior secretaries during the past five years in the disposal of the Colorado oil lands, in a statement, later expressed belief that Kelley had fallen into "designing hands of those who could use him to their advantage."

Wilbur added that three fourths of his own official action in regard to oil shale claims had been taken upon Kelley's recommendations and that in only one case had the latter been overruled.

MARIONETTES IN AMERICA

The marionette in this country always has been identified with juvenile entertainment, but this presentation, while appealing directly to young audiences is projected in the manner of continental marionette plays for sophisticated audiences. The Gawpy Ballet has the ironic humor of Anatole France in Penguin Isle while the International marionette revue is a witty satire on the manners of current revues and musical comedy, and dance recital productions. The audience of children is entertained by the drollery, the adult audience by the subtlety of this marionette program.
